Michigan Fishing Report

July 30th, 2010

Late summer setting in.

Pere Marquette

Water Conditions - average

Daytime fishing continues to be difficult. We're still managing fish on hoppers and turning a few on streamers, but generally fishing during the day is tough. Night fishing, on the other hand, has been good. The big browns are coming out after dark and looking for a healthy meal of struggling mouse. Seeing a few more salmon in the river as well, but not in fishable numbers quite yet. Matt Dunn

Manistee

Water Conditions - average

Warm below the dams. Most folks are concentrating on smallmouth.

Muskegon

Water Conditions - above average

Again, with warm temperatures the trout fishing is slow. Smallmouth fishing has been good. Phil Cusey

Beaver Island

The carp are still around, just a little tougher to catch. But with several good shots each day, if you can keep your cool as these big fish cruise within casting range, it will happen. This is truly a heart stopping way to fish. Kevin Molock
